

Government will pursue continuous assessment of citizens' potential instead of solely relying on formal examinations, a Cabinet minister has said. Primary and Secondary Education Minister Lazarus Dokora yesterday said formal examinations in schools did not reveal children's full potential.

Created: 10 June 2014

Read more...