

Government has said US$5,6 million meant for administrative work for non-formal education is lying idle due to failure by schools to integrate adult education and those supplementing examinations into their systems. The non-formal education fund, also known as Second Chance Education Money, has been provided by Government and its partners.

Created: 16 June 2014

Read more...